How to do: Moodle

Guide to Using Moodle for Students of the Joint Master in European History (JMEH)

What is Moodle, and why do I need it?

Moodle is a free and open-source learning management system. It is used for blended learning, distance education, and other online learning projects in schools, universities, workplaces, and other settings.

The Moodle platform used by the Master of European History program is hosted by Humboldt University and is free of charge. This is also the reason why the policies and agreements are only available in German.

The Joint Master in European History uses Moodle as the central communication platform for all students enrolled in the program. Through this platform, the universities communicate with students, provide important information, conduct surveys and polls, and coordinate events.

After creating an account, you will need to obtain the enrollment key from your trusted contact person. Once you have enrolled in the course, an onboarding process will guide you through the basic functions of the platform.

How do I create an account?
